Humanity is about how noble is our mind;
Not the beautiful dress covering our soul;
If human is these eyes, ears, nose and mouth;
How may we differ from a picture on the wall?
Be a true human, unless like a bird;
May talk the language of human, as you heard;
The human reaches where God might be;
The place of humanity that high shall see!

Saadi, Persian poet (1184 – 1283)
Translation by Behruz Vazyan